

P.4 Recognition

"Good writing is really meaningful, and it's one of the best tools we have to get and capture people's imagination" - Robin Sloan

We are different

Class: 4A Name: Lau Hiu Yeung

Sam is a disabled student in my class. He is quiet and implicit. However, he is my best friend. Because of his illness, he needs to use a wheelchair in Primary one. Although he is a disabled person, he does everything by himself and never depends on others. Sometimes he takes care of me.

Besides, we have many differences. Sam is good at Chinese, but I am good at PE. Sam and I are different ages. He is ten years old, but I am nine years old. We like different kinds of food. Sam likes eating dairy products, but I like eating salad. Sam likes playing violin. I like playing basketball. He likes playing board games and I like playing video games. Even so, we often have common topics and chat for a long time.

I remember one day, when I was sick, he went to my home and he looked after and comforted me. I was so surprised and touched. I am deeply moved. He made me understand what true friends are.

I hope our friendship can last forever and we can continue to support each other in the future.

We are different

Class: 4A Name: Chan Hoi Yan

Jenny is my best friend. I knew her when I was six years old. We study in the same primary school, and she is my classmate.

We have different appearances: I am tall and she is short. My eyes are bigger than her eyes. Our living places are different: She lives in Yuen Long and I live in Tuen Mun. Also, we have different hobbies: She likes swimming and I like running. Our favourite subjects are different: I like PE and she likes Maths. She likes hard food, but I like soft food.....

We have different personalities, she is tough, but I am cowardly. When I encounter difficulties, I must ask her for help immediately.

Although we are different, we care about each other and understand each other. She is very important to me because we are very good friends.

We are different

Class: 4B Name: Yeung Yuen Chi

Friends are the most important part of everyone's life. A friend is someone with whom you can share your joys and sorrows and who is there to help you when you are in need.

I have many friends but Yan is my best friend. She is my classmate. I am lucky enough to have a true friend like Yan. It is impossible to write about her in just a few words.

Yan and I are friends since the last two years. We study at the same school. We have the same hobby. We both like playing badminton. She is a very kind girl who has a round face with black hair and brown eyes. She is very funny and we often go out together with our parents. She is very gentle and very well mannered. She understands me a lot and is always ready to help me in my bad or happy conditions. I usually study and play with Yan. Yan always gives me very good and memorable gifts. I wish a great life ahead for her. Love one another with brotherly affection. Outdo one another in showing honor. I pray to God to keep our bonding strong and lively forever.

Respect the uniqueness of others.

Class: 4C Name: Yan Wan Hei

Every one is born to be different. You can tell that easily when you look around at your classmates. It can be the physical appearance or the personality. All we have to do is to appreciate and respect that difference.

What's your hobby? What's your strength and weakness? You may be good at running and playing sports, but that doesn't mean that you are superior to others, not to mention there must be someone stronger or better than you. Imagine you are not good at memorizing things or reciting the dictation content. Will you feel unpleasant when someone laughs at you? You may be an active and talkative person. Your classmates may be quieter and enjoy reading on their own. Everyone has his or her own way of enjoying life. So, we ought to learn how to appreciate others' interests and respect them.

Just as Confucius said, 'Respect yourself and others will respect you.' If you want others to respect you, do it to others first!

Respect the uniqueness of others.

Class: 4D Name: Ho Hiu Pui

Sierra is my best friend at school. We are the same age and in the same class. My birthday is in August but her birthday is in October, so I am two months older than her.

Sierra and I both like English. Our favourite food is ice cream. However, we are different in many ways. We like different seasons. I like spring but she likes summer. I like spring, because I like going to the park in spring. Sierra likes summer, because she likes going to the beach in summer.

I like Sierra, because she is always nice to me. She always talks to me and shares her food with me during recess. She never shouts at me. She is my best friend forever!

We are different

Class: 4E Name: Yuen Zhou Yee Ching

Emma is my classmate. She is also my best friend. At the weekend, I played badminton with her. From Monday to Friday, I also have a tutorial with her.

Emma and I are different from each other. For example, our living places, hobbies, favourite subjects, favourite food and drinks are different. She lives in Choi Yee Bridge and I live in Yau Oi. Her hobby is doing puzzles, but mine is painting. Her favourite subject is Maths, and mine is English. Her favourite food and drink are curry rice and cola. I like sandwiches and tea. We are different.

Our most memorable thing is travelling together. During the trip, we ate different delicacies together and bought a lot of things.

We both respect our classmates. But must we respect our classmates? Yes, we must. If you don't respect your classmates, no one will approach you to be your friend.

I agree with Julius Erving's saying very much, 'I firmly believe that respect is a lot more important, and a lot greater, than popularity.'
